Artprice complies with current laws regarding author's rights and intellectual property. This is why Artprice does not broadcast nor distribute any images of works of art on its databases. Being considered as a private correspondence between you and Artprice, these data are to be used privately. You are not authorized to reproduce nor to transmit it to third parties. The information, particularly reproductions, ordered as part of an ARTPRICING report is entirely dependent on the information contained in the sale catalogue

You accepted at the time of your order that:

- Some catalogues publish reproductions in black and white.
- There is no guarantee concerning the dimensions or quality of reproductions.
- Images sent are in digital format and are not designed for printing on high quality paper.
- You must not use, reproduce, portray, distribute nor exploit the images transmitted.
- Under no circumstances can Artprice be held responsible if you use these images for the purposes of reproduction, distribution or exploitation.

Feel free to contact us for any question.

Thank you for choosing Artprice.

Yours sincerely, Artpricing Department
